We are very excited to announce some wonderful things happening in PTI:

Over the past two months 6 staff have been volunteering their time to attend TESH sponsored training on how to become better group class instructors. The training has been conducted by a staff member from NIC and has covered how to develop curriculum, classroom management and lesson planning. On February 28th they will officially “graduate” from the class and will become the exclusive group class teachers here at TESH. This is a huge commitment to our clients to provide the highest level of service that we can possibly offer.

We are pleased to let everyone know that by the end of June our back classroom area will be completely changed with the building of actual classrooms. We are all so excited to watch this happen. This will cut down on the noise level, provide privacy and improve the overall look of our area. The funding for this has been coming from private donations which Panhandle State Bank has graciously agreed to match. We will be calling this training area the Sage Johnson Learning Center in honor of Sage Johnson who attended TESH's summer programs and who, sadly, passed away a couple of months ago. Her family not only got the ball rolling on this but has also worked tirelessly securing building materials, etc, for this fantastic project. There is still time to donate if you wish. Please note that the donations are to be earmarked for the Sage Johnson Memorial Fund.

In our Family Supports Program, TESH just successfully passed an audit for our Targeted Service Coordination program. We are pleased to say that the audit went extremely well and we will be receiving full certification.
